The link [REDACTED] sent me for the tray table you like leads to a blog which does not sell them. I found out it is the Wooster Table from Zara Home. Zara Home has recently gone online in the US (They do not have any physical stores). I called them as they did not have the table on the website. They said the table is out of stock. They said they may receive more and I could try again in a month but could not give me a definite guarantee. I went on to the Zara Home website in Paris and they have in stock. I can purchase online and they could be delivered to the Paris house in 10 days. Perhaps Valdson could then Fedex them. With this lead time however I do not think they would make it down to you for this trip. Probably only the May trip. Do you want me to go ahead and purchase from Zara home in Paris?
