Hi Richard,

Good talking to you yesterday afternoon.

I have looked at the 2013 car in Miami you mentioned. I really don't think we are comparing apples with apples but that said I wanted to justify our car. The specifications of Rolls-Royce are normally so unique it is difficult to compare two cars as they are rarely the same.

1. Ghost was completely re-engineered for the 15 model as the Series II. The main differences are visual and under the body:

2. Rear suspension and axle system was totally re-engineered to be more comfortable, quieter and stable.

3. Navigation and infotainment system was upgraded from a rather clunky system to a totally up-to-date system which is so easy and intuitive to use.

4. Gearbox was upgraded to include shift patterns linked to the GPS, meaning the car knows the road type and what's approaching to make the driving experience as smooth as possible.

The body of the car is sleeker and has a more rounded profile. There were many other minor changes under the car's skin too which have made the Ghost series II a more complete car, which in turn has made the values of Series I cars drop.

The very best I can get our car to is $360,000 and top the warranty up to 0/31/2019. The warranty alone is worth thousands. I hope you choose to do business with us here at Manhattan Motorcars.

Look forward to hearing from you,

Rupert
