Subject: RE: up date

Hi Mr. Epstein the house cleaning and organization of all closet areas are going as planned all electronic rubbish was picked up except for some cpu's that [REDACTED] wants to clean up. The server room will be the next on the list when [REDACTED] integrates the server to apple. The ladies have been going floor to floor cleaning every inch of the house all closets included. We left all storage items laid out in the catering kitchen area on C-level for you to view, to decide what is garbage, or what can be sold and what can be used in other homes. I am also putting a list together with pictures of all other items that [REDACTED] has requested to be shipped to LSJ. I would like to have all shipping items picked up this coming week of 1/17/11 if possible, I have called [REDACTED] and we will get pricing for shipping when we have a complete list that you approve. I have also been working on a hot water heating problem that I discovered when the colder weather came in last week. The heating system upper reheat zones being supplied by AC-3 fan & the 5th floor fan units heating was losing water pressure affecting room temperatures on the 4th & 5th floors. After various trouble shooting tests I found the shell & tube Heat exchanger #2 has a tube leak and the reheat hot water was leaking out water pressure through the steam condensate line. This was causing the reheat hot water system pressure to drop and the reheat coils to get air bound on the 5th & 6th floors. I have isolated heat exchanger #2 until the tube bundle can be replaced, we are operating off of reheat exchanger #1 with an extra steam bypass supply to make up the difference in capacity all rooms are now making set points. I replaced Heat exchanger #1 tube bundle about 2 years ago, #2 tube bundle which is leaking is original to the house. The Source One project is also moving forward the full energy report and recommendations for system upgrades will be complete by 1/25/11 I am also waiting on Pricing for upgrades that AD Winston is working on for free cooling & removal of the old Carrier Chiller and adding the additional 2 tons of compressors to the new Air stack Chiller. I am also in the process of setting up meetings with [REDACTED] and the various mechanical maintenance contractors. See you soon [REDACTED]
