Bonjour Jeffry!

Here a young candidate for BBB AB...but she may be too busy already this spring...
More candidates to come...

Its actually been a full year since 'shit hit the fan' at the school, and has not been a not been a lot of fun.. and of course I finally had to give up the office there.....which after all these years was more like a museum of all the girls etc..we need a place again to bring BBB forward and alive....and one person paid to raise money from participating companies and also handle and organize recruiting and placements events and girls and social media etc...We have som
new thinking like some of the now experienced girls in the midst of career life in Sweden with kids and no help etc mentoring men CEOs of the finance companies not only how to attract female talent but how to actually retain it....perhaps you could just invest in BBB AB and become an important share holder? We have about 200 super girls now and a lot of attention which brings new girls interested....

Anyway, you are supersmart-how do you think it can be done? Its not exactly huge amounts needed as the idea finally is to have BBB go commercial...:-)

In NYC another 2 weeks...lets keep in touch and hopefully meet here before I leave on March 5.

Stor kram,
