
From: Farkas, Andrew L. [REDACTED]
Sent: Thursday, October 24, 2013 11:53 AM
To: 'jeevacation@gmail.com'
Subject: Fw: Renault-Ford joint venture

From: Bob Lieber [mailto:rclieber@gmail.com]
Sent: Thursday, October 24, 2013 07:38 AM
To: Farkas, Andrew L.
Subject: Renault-Ford joint venture

Subject: Fwd: Renault-Ford joint venture

Renault and Ford have joined forces to create the perfect small car for women.

Mixing the Renault 'Clio' and the Ford 'Taurus' they have designed the 'Clitaurus'. It comes in pink, and the average male car thief won't be able to find it - let alone turn it on - even if someone tells him where it is and how to do it.

Rumor has it though, that it leaks transmission fluid once a month, and can be a real bitch to start in the morning! Some have reported that on cold winter mornings you can't get it to turn over.

New models are initially fun to own, but very costly to maintain, and horribly expensive to get rid of. Used models may initially appear to have curb appeal and a low price, but eventually have an increased appetite for fuel, and the curb weight typically increases with age. Manufacturers are baffled as to how the size of the trunk increases.

This model is not expected to reach collector status. Most owners find it is best to lease one, and replace it each year.

This message, and any attachments hereto, is confidential and intended exclusively for the use of the individual or entity to whom it is addressed. This communication may contain information that is confidential, proprietary, privileged, subject to a confidentiality and/or non-disclosure agreement, or otherwise exempt or protected from disclosure (either by contract or under applicable law). If you are not the intended recipient, you are hereby notified that printing, retaining, reproducing, copying, disclosing, disseminating or using this message or any information contained herein (including any reliance thereon) is strictly prohibited. If you have received this message in error, please contact the sender immediately and destroy the message (including any attachments) and any copies in their entirety, whether in electronic or hard copy format. Nothing contained in this e-mail shall be considered a legally binding agreement, amendment or modification of any agreement with Island Capital Group LLC or any of its affiliates, each of which requires a fully executed agreement to be received by Island Capital Group LLC or such affiliate.