
From: Glenn Dubin [REDACTED]
Sent: Friday, March 11, 2016 3:58 AM
To: jeffrey E.
Subject: FW: Swedish Billionaire - Recycles / reuses his Tea-Bags

Glenn Dubin

Dubin & Company

[REDACTED] | = New York, NY 10153
[REDACTED]

From: Matt Edmonds [REDACTED]
Sent: Thursday, March 10, 2016 8:51 PM
To: Glenn Dubin [REDACTED]; Eva Dubin [REDACTED]; Julie Quay [REDACTED]
Subject: Swedish Billionaire - Recycles / reuses his Tea-Bags <=o:p>

<http://www.theage.com.au/business/world-business/why-one-of-the-ten-worlds-richest-men-wears-handmedown-clothes-20160310-gng5k7.html> <<http://www.theage.com.au/business/world-business/why-one-of-the-ten-worlds-richest-men-wears-handmedown-clothes-20160310-gng5k7.html>>

"I don't think I'm wearing anything that wasn't bought at a flea market," he told Swedish channel TV4, according to business daily Dagens Industri which previewed the film. "It means that I want to set a good example."

This is not the first time the multibillionaire has revealed his penchant for extreme penny-pinching. In 2008, he told Sweden's Sydsvenskan newspaper that he saves money by getting his hair cut during trips overseas to poorer countries, according to the Telegraph <<http://www.telegraph.co.uk/news/worldnews/europe/sweden/12190061/Ikea-founder-Ingvar-Kamprad-admits-to-buying-clothes-in-car-markets.html>> .

"Normally, I try to get my haircut when I'm in a developing country," he said. "Last time it was in Vietnam."

<=>