hi jeffrey,

...you chose the color blue for the cabana no 1..=you said blue somehow like the sky color, and for the bathroom no 1 use =the same pattern i did the sample(with rombs) but use a stronger blue than =the blue i used in the sample on the wall.

then for cab=na no 2 and 3 you said in one bathroom lavender - lilac and the ro=m white with horizontal lavender lines (like pinto..) and the othe= one similar but use green instead. this is what i remember. =3B i dont think you chose blue for cabana no 1 and then again blue for the=cabana 2 or 3.

anyway, i think we should wait with the green=untill you come here and see, and then decide, eventually change the co=or if you dont like it. it would take me one day for the room and =ne day for the bathroom because the preparations are done now.

=i didnt see the picture emad took, but maybe the green in the bathroom l=oks diferent in the picture. in real it is an optimistic green..it makes t=e bathroom happy. you will see..

and somehow in the bathrooms=2C because the walls are close to each other they reflect the color, and=then a color gets much more intens than it is in real. thats why in the ba=hroom in cabana no 2 which is somehow lilac-blue now, i used at the begi=ing like lavender..lilac, but it didnt look good... when i put the color=on the wall it looks intens..it was tireing..even when i did the sample on=the paper it looked good..it was light. so then i added a little m=re blue to turn it more towards blue..

anyway its very confus=ng with the colors i think because of the light from outside. in t= emorning its one color at lunch time its different, at afternoon differ=nt, then if its cloudy its diferent too.. you will see.

beside this, can we start with the w=ite venetian plaster in the master bedroom? one person can come sunday and=start monday. then later like thursday i can jump in there too and we migh= be able to finish it before christmas.

thank you,
=3B =nbsp; ion
