Dear Jeffrey,

Hope you are doing well and your projects turn out successfully!
I kindly ask you to find 2 minutes to respond the email from your good friend :)

After the 2nd in a row failure (2011 and 2012 attempts) to get a Juris Doctor from an Ivy League school, my "application effort" turned out to be successful : am accepted on the double degree in Global Affairs ( Master from MGIMO and MBA of international organizations from University of Geneva). <http://iimba.ch/business-underpinning-of-international-and-non-governmental-organizations/> <<http://iimba.ch/business-underpinning-of-international-and-non-governmental-organizations/>>

I hesitate to do this double Master since I am not sure to be able to get a very well paid job after this. I am 23 - I have doubts - i do not have you, Jeffrey, as my mentor anymore...it is rather hard by myself.
Also, i search the scholarships opportunities to finance the MBA (40.000 CHF). Without the scholarship, I cannot do it anyway.

Would be great if you could send me through [REDACTED] contacts! She is the one who seems to know the reality of MGIMO education.. + work for IO.

As for scholarships, do You think that I can contact these companies I want to work for to ask them to pay for the degree ?
What is the department i must speak to called?

If you know the philanthropists organizations who finance the MBAs, please let me know - I can call you if it is easier for you than typing...

Personally, I cannot afford the degree....my Sydney company was winded up + am still a student.

Kiss my dear Professor Epstein..wherever you are have a great Sunday - full of inspiration!

With warm wishes,
