based =n this pricing we should change our current fueling process it is a =hame after 5.5 years we are first learning of this =pportunity

my last fuel purchase pricing in =ecember was 3.99 for premium vs ayh cost 3.79 and 4.03 for diesel vs =yh cost 4.01 as you clearly pointed out the barge and labor =osts easily adds $1,500 to each 1500-3000 gallon (3000 max capacity of =xisting fuel truck) fuel purchase which increases our cost by =nother 0.50 to 1.00 per gallon

i spoke with =ill Bolke senior and Brice on Friday about their mechanic Carlos coming =ver to LSJ to look at repairs to our fuel truck. When we =xplained repairs he seemed to be unfazed and thought it was very =ixable as their mechanic Carlos has rebuilt trucks from scratch. =nbsp;He also indicated repairs would not be so costly (rather vague but =ot the disaster Brice presents). I mistakenly left the =onversation that Brice would coordinate the planning of Carlos to visit =SJ if he had time this past weekend. When i followed up with =rice on Friday and Monday he said he has tried to get in touch with =olke but had no luck (which i do not believe). Bolke also =uggested using Roy's mechanic to fix truck. I am concerned that =rice continues to push his people (bob kassner) instead of hiring the =ost suitable person to deal with our issues.

Hello =arry,

The current wholesale prices for Premium Gasoline and ULS =iesel respectively are $3.79 and $4.01. The retail prices are =remium- $5.279, and Diesel-4.989. Please be advised these prices =hange frequently, and the fuel in our tanks is made up of several =ifferent loads purchased at different wholesale cost. If you have =ny more questions about this, I'm sure the finance office in Greenville =ould be happy to help.

Best-
