Ok well MasterCard and EcoBank and some Mutual want to join me. Help.

Going to run a pilot under the radar in Zim to mature before Christmas.

What I've stumbled into essentially amounts to a credit rating system for about 500m ppl that no one knows how to reach. [REDACTED]

I think that's cool and would be amazing in the future as massive data grows but even interesting to me is how extend credit to a group (not individual) that is creditworthy. Crazy the Zim federation of the poor in Harare has 3.2m in savings for a few hundred thousand ppl

Informal economy is massive in Africa

55% gdp and 80% jobs

This isn't where I started but it actually makes amazing sense
