

From: [REDACTED]
Subject: please read
Sent: Sunday, November 28, 2010 10:16:20 PM
To: Jeffrey Epstein <jeevacation@gmail.com>

There's something I have to say

And I hope that it can be heard with an open heart

Because, I owe you an apology.

I am very sorry I misbehaved.

Without doubt, it is clear that I do not deal with that aspect of your life well.

I felt rejected and hurt.

You have been an extraordinary friend to me these last few months and I am truly thankful for that.

You helped me out of a very difficult period, and the truth is that without you, I would probably still be stuck there.

For all else, it is clearer than ever that I have to make drastic changes in the way I have been behaving and living and I am finally ready to face up to that.

If there was one wish, it would be for you to know that my reactions do not come from a place of non-caring, simply, it comes simply because I cherish you in a way that has never really allowed me to fully embrace your intimacy with others.

Sometimes I just want you for myself and I don't want to have to negotiate... in your vernacular,
' I'm not good at sharing my favorite lollypop.'

I've dropped of some cookies for you and the girls, along with a joke that I thinks hysterical, mostly for [REDACTED] I think it's her birthday.

Have a fantastic week with Andrew.

I wish you well,

[REDACTED]