Dear Myla,

Wonderful!!!! I will keep you posted etc.

You may have to ask MPT if it is possible to postpone you STCW course – just in case :)

Kind regards,

Madeleine Bensch

Hi Myla,

Listed below are the details about the position we discussed in the office this morning :) I sent your resume to the captain but if you can have your Crew Application form filled in ASAP it will be awesome:)

The captain said they can get away with the expired STCW since they are private

Albula, 64m Royal Denship 2006 (ex-M/Y Turmoil)

- * Captain Tom Henshilwood
- * Cayman Island Flagged
- * Private
- * Vessel is full ISM & ISPS
- * 14 Crew (mixed nationalities)
- * 12 Guests
- * Current Location: Caribbean
- * Itinerary: Dual Season
- * Winter: Florida
- * Summer: TBA
- * Two American families share ownership of this yacht. They are both an absolute please to work for. One set more elderly, the other younger with young kids.
- * Boat offers Health and 38 days leave
- * All Crew must have: STCW95, ENG1, and B1/B2 Visa
- * Strict Non-Smoking, No Tattoos
- * All crew have their own cabins, toilet, desk, tv, etc! (very nice big cabins)

<image008.jpg>

Position: Temp. Sous/Crew Chef

- * STCW, ENG1, VPDS, B1/B2 and Schengen visas(if required), Food & Hygiene Cert, does not have to be culinary trained
- * This is a beautiful expedition style yacht
- * All menus have been planned , all provisioning has been done - The head chef just wants someone that can help him, chop, plate, clean
- * Must be hardworking with a fun/relaxed personality
- * Dates: 9th May – 21st May 2019 (for the right candidate the trip could be extended while chef is on leave).
- * Joining in Rybovich, West Palm Beach, FL cruising to Nassau & Chub Cay before returning to Rybovich.
- * Salary: Roughly $150 – 200 p/day DOE
- * *Cabin is shared with a male crew member.

Kind regards,

Madeleine Bensch
