Thanks!

My grandmother was often heard to say "There's a fine line between caution and melancholy." I'm applying it here. If I fade away I'm not trying hard enough. This is a project that can only improve the world -make a generational and cultural milestone. Jeffrey Epstein Foundation for the Sciences will be well-served in collaborating with us. Our financial partners need for us to continue lifting this great project all the way to some unseen (at the moment) plateau.

I feel as if I must make every effort, not just with Mr. Epstein, but with every potential funding source to get this educational film made.

That said, I really detest pests. Never want to be one.

all the best

K.
