story, good try,, but from now on you must remind these people that they work for us, not the other way around.. you can say no,, i want a definite time, and i want it now... otherwise they will always put you on the back end.

Alan told me that he has multiple calls into his lighting person but hasn't heard back from him. Due to this weather Alan said that he is tied up and will not be coming by today. He will be coming tomorrow. He is going to call me later and give me a time that he will be coming.
