Hey Jeffrey!

I watched a documentary last night called "The World According to Monsanto" that in light of our conversation around food and water security, may be of interest to you. I can't seem to find a copy of it online for you to check out but maybe [REDACTED] can purchase or Netflix it? They're also showing it on the Sundance Channel right now so you may be able to find it there.

I hope all is well and that you're gearing up for a great holiday season. How are things? Porter and I are trying to plan a trip down to FL to visit [REDACTED] and Story in the next couple of months and would love to come by and see you.

A bit of good new on my end...I managed to negotiate a 30% raise for next year which at a non-profit, and in this economy is just short of turning water into wine. Porter is still on the hunt but nothing concrete has hit yet.

Wishing you a Happy Thanksgiving!!
