Jeffrey,

Here are various Kitchen Plan options for your review and comment:

Plan A: I spoke to Brice and saw some photos of the Zorro Kitchen. Brice says it works well and that you like the layout. This plan is based on the same concept.

- Separate Butler's Pantry
- Separate Pantry
- One open space for Kitchen and Dining Table.

Plan B:

- Separate area for Butler's Pantry and Pantry Combined
- Open Kitchen and Dining Area
- Dining area larger because no cabinets at this end
- Two entry doors into Dining area

Plan C:

- One large open space for Kitchen/Dining area
- Butler's Pantry and Pantry Storage within
- This layout is the same length as the Great Room, but it is not as wide.

Plan D:

- Same one large open space for Kitchen and Dining
- Instead of typical Kitchen islands with cabinetry below, replace with large round butcher block or stone top Islands. I
- I will forward photo of round islands that I have in mind.
- From my experience, it is easier to circulate around round tables and the room appears more spacious.

These are just a starting point as we can mix and match after reviewing your comments along with Brice's and [REDACTED]

Let me know what you think.

Silvina
