That's why I'm not that happy in this moment. Until now, this year I accomplished almost everything I wished for. I still have problems with my scar but the face I'm sure in one month,after august it will look good.

good question...
Well I'll see all my friends and probably go in the country side with my family...
I wish to go also a few days to the black sea...let's see if that will be possible.
I need to charge my batteries.
After that have all the jobs in Paris all september and after probably come to the states to miami as I said before.
And was thinking to go also to London, but I'm not sure I'll make it, though I wish.

I'm going home next saturday. I wanted to leave sooner but I can't change the flight.
However I wanted to spend 14 of july here coz is the national day and will be a huge demonstration.

I'm not so proud to say but I haven't book any show this time though I had options and fittings! :(
I'm really sad coz I didn't expect this, and believe me I've been very confident. But in this moment I'm kind of down, no money, no job... no shopping :P!
there is also a good news...I'm booked for 2 good jobs in beginning of september and middle sept here.
Probably I should go home but I'm very bad in bending down my forehead!
kiss...
