i've not finished sending you emails.. in addition,, how is it possible that doug knows, ive told curtis twice , and you don't know.. i also just asked curtis reg 250 k for earth works and he says it is a plug number that may include repairs to the rock breaking machine , if we were to need it. i thought his numbers would be reviewed before they got to me, so i do not have to hear that type of goofiness.

I appreciate what you sent in reference to flooring, but please note I was not cc'd on any of this information and even after I forwarded flooring samples for your review no mention was made of JP's involvement

Dear JP, I hope you are well.

The paneling is being installed in the office but we do not have a floor. As you may recall, Jeffrey asked not to have a polished parquet floor or even a distressed parquet floor in the office but to have a floor which was rougher and older and with more history. I am forwarding to you images to some very rough floor board samples for your review and comment per Jeffrey's request. Jeffrey would like your thoughts. I asked that some of the samples look as though they had been through a shipwreck and washed up on the beach and been used in an earlier building; the new room full of paneling could look like it was installed at later time. Jeffrey would like your thoughts.

Regards, Doug
