Good article ... but to be clear he states

Kind of misleading as the Apple solution encourages "repeaters" and will be part of the solution I roll out at 71st street and is built in to the apple solution but even the best of wifi solutions have there issues, so what is also part of my plan is using wifi to ethernet, so when you are at your table all day, you are using a base station as the boosted receiver but the laptop will connect with a cable. I think this works much better and even have working VOIP set ups that work over this network, attached is current quote as it relates to this work order hoping approval will happen soon. -scott

ps

I think I mentioned that My father ended his government career as the Director of Procurement Policy at OMB, and he agrees with me that when it comes to IT Budgets Jobs are best managed by pre approved budget amounts i.e. $10,000 $20,000 And then the job is tracked in progress within these agreed budgets giving the Project Leader (Me) the ability to spend on the fly as unforeseen tech issues almost always have issues that need to be resolved in a time frame faster than accounting can move. Also I did work at HBRK yesterday and the notes Let By Bill have come into focus now that I have been into multiple locations. As far as LSJ is concerned it is clear to me so of the plan needs the altered, and some needs to have to be implemented. I will be working with Jermaine on Mon to see if we can make things better for you before my return.

I did end up working xmas at HBRK and started testing a server things when when but they will go even better next round, I need to make sure the addition ip numbers can be pulled from the modem directly into the server hardware. This could really get things moving at an good pace, but need to know from you what domain would best be rolled out on this new ip JeffreyEEpstein.com the one we just just grabbed or JE or JEEworldwide.com which was my choice. and that server should be top of the line Similar to LSJ server (see quote below) also I saw a domain JEELLC? we could use that as well.

server for public ip to private new domain server and master controller for unbound anywhere access with 100% mac os x compatibility with no need for the citrix, cisco, and other 3rd party server contracts. This also keeps things working as they are as we moved forward. I would also like permission the bring in a ISP/voip guy who is a trusted resource to who could deliver very customized platforms to even further tweak 71 street.

Sues computer should be shipped to HBRK for repair but my guess is we just buy her a new one and see if I can save the hard drive as is has know backup. All allocation back up services with be provided for staff so when I ask "are you backed up " and the answer is almost always no I will on the fly solve that at any location.

any questions BOSS ? I love working for you guys so much every is just awesome and I can't wait to get started again mon morning.

anyway I would like you to download and install the 30 day file maker demo I put on your idisk and pick the templets you the will best fit your organization.

if you want to talk you catch me awake other wise was going to rest a bit ,,,, wish I had better issue tacking between you and me and filemaker is the answer.

2011 is going to be a great year and I am moving forward fast just need some buying power 4 g hot stop and firewire boot we need to work with you soon.

call me if you want at home other wise my relax a bit this sunday ...

all the best scott
