Good morning Rich

Allow me to introduce myself, my name is Derek Watkins. I am V.P. Group Operations for Michael.

Michael is travelling but he asked me to contact you to clarify the conversation between Jeffrey and Michael. I was present during their conversation between them and verbally introduced myself to Jeffrey at that time. My purpose for being there was to take notes to ensure there are no further misunderstandings.

The attachment that you have is 100% correct. Allow me clarify the 30 cents margin that we are retaining. This is after the cost of product, all fees, taxes and transportaion costs. Our retail sales agreement with Chevron/Texaco forbids us disclosing propriety information. Were we to divulge confidential information, this would grossly undermine our relationship with those companies and subsequently have a damaging impact on our business.

Upon receipt of the $50,000.00 we will make an immediate purchase on your behalf and the fuel will be placed in our storage tanks. You will be notified immediately confirming your price. All future pre-pays will be made in the same way with the price as it pertains to the market on that day.

Furthermore, STTJC has a distribution list to 25 conract companies notifying them of any change in our pricing. We will add you to that list so you will be fully aware of any and all price changes, both up and down.

Regards

Derek Watkins for Michael J. Hancock

Thank you for your email.

I was away last week so I apologize for not responding sooner.

My understanding was that the deal was going to be $0.30 above cost not $1.76 less retail.

Please advise.
