Are they ny based?

Part of me likes idea of regenerative medicine in general but the other part really feels healthier and better on all the replacement. Im willing to take anything that improves quality of life.

All the rage in the neuro circles right now is a smartening drug currently available over the counter. Fyi

HGH, for anti aging
My endocrinologist thinks I should consider it as part of the hormone replacement cocktail

Not a huge downside that I can see

Have you heard or considered
