Hi Jeffrey,

sorry to pester you.

you need some good PR platforms and your websites are key to this.

You currently have two websites up and running: www.jeffreyepstein.org and www.jeffreyepsteinscience.com. The first one comes up on the 1st page of the search engines.

Those websites are hosted by some entity. Can I ask Cecile who might know? I would like to put a summary of your foundation on them. And use the same entity to set up other websites for you. Personal websites always come up high in search engines. I can then connect them to your facebook, twitter and other accounts.

I will get back to working on wikipedia. My ip address was blocked by the editors so I need to work from another computer. My first choice is to get the article removed. The senior administrators are reviewing this request. In the meantime, its good that you now have a science and finance section but your photo and caption need to be changed and the solicitation paragraph minimized.

thank you. I hope you are well.
