my understanding is that Marc has been spending the majority of his time trying to finish task list that was derived from your last visit what are your thoughts on the level of completion of the work promised? marc is under the impression that you would be pleased with progress made as staff as been working 7 days per week as far as dealing with staff and attempting to restructure LSJ / Zorro he has done limited work in that regard as most of his energy went to task list I have been including him on almost all emails so he is in the loop on everything please let me know what i can do to help will send resume in next email
