Hey Jeff,

I am giving an invited inaugural talk up at James Simon's opening of his new center for physics. This event is by invite only and Simons and many top people will be there, mainly his co-horts, mathematicians, physicists, and hedge funders...

The date is Nov. 29th at the Simons Center for Geomery and Physics in Stony Brook. I can give you details if you are in the area, and i can get you an official invite for the event. It won't be a large crowd, but it will be a very select one. I think you may enjoy it and some of the other talks.
