Thanks for the link!

And what did you expect from the film named "Melancholia"? Nevertheless, I found that Von Trier is so ironic about lots of things like marriages, films on apocalypses, and apocalypses themselves, that he made me smile more during this film than the last film of your friend Woody. Anyway, this film is not about making you feel light and happy. Obviously, we prefer different styles of films, and i am not astonished!

You asked me about my timetable, and you when are you next in Paris? I do not think I will go to States again in 2011....

I has devored the website of the school that you send me, what a shame they do not have distance education.....i am afraid there is not much school proposing this type of programs distantly...
