too small.. the more interesting idea is that freud was on to something but missed the boat.. There is no dream state that is produced upon sleep.. Dreams are always on... conciounesss inhibits their introduction into waking state.. , i'm going to sleep right now BUT i figured out something cool about scars - or really the scarring process.

i think i know how to not scar. talk me through it tomorrow?
very cool and kind of counterintuitive also i am supposed to talk to lowell weiss (works with nathan, boris and bill) on monday about ideas. i have a slide deck about some cool stuff - some you don't like

1. solid waste technology (recapturing fossil fuels from plastics, NPK retrieval from municipal fecal sludge, biochar etc). even though you hate it i made about $180 million last year and probably more this year playing carbon markets with chemistry. have some more cool ideas.

2. high fructose corn syrup

3. fisheries technologies

what else do you think would be fun to talk to him about? his outfit (shared with our mutual friends) is called "global good" so ultimate beneficiary can be anyone - their job is just to be sure it eventually can trickle down to poor.

help me feed lowell some smart stuff to keep him busy.
