Good Afternoon,

Attached 2 photos, of chair that is going to be reupholstered. Would you be open to have the brown woven section at the back of the chair in the new blue fabric? There is a concern that they will need to disassemble the chair if they only cover the white section, but would not require any disassembling if the brown woven section is also covered in the new fabric.

They plan on starting work on this piece tomorrow and it could be OK, but until they start they will not know for sure. I do not want to hold them up, so wish to see if you are OK with this.

At present the chair is very sound and there is concern what it would be like after it is pulled apart

Please advise

Warmest regards
