I still have not been to San Fransisco but if and when I do go these places are at the top of my list... If this isn't what you're looking for I have a few others that you might like.

Flour and Water- rustic Italian with a few twists and a serious pasta program

Manresa- 2 Michelin stars- American/California cuisine, been around for some time now. Very farm driven food. I did a dinner with him a few years back and the food is clean a beautiful.

Benu- 2 Michelin stars- Cory Lee was the running the show at French Laundry when they received 3 stars. Now opens his own spot in san fran and is killing it.

Atelier Crenn- 1 Michelin star- Dominique just opened this spot and its been getting nothing but praise. French inspired farm to table with modern edge if i had had to describe her food...food from the earth...

Hope this helps.
