hey xuxu. I need advance because ,I don't know what to do ,do u remember I told you about my boyfriend and he is changing all his business life for me because i don't want my boyfriend to work at night ,, So anyway he has a lot of network and he is very smart, everyday he has very important people asking him for real estate, commodities or where to invest etc but i think he need a structure to work first because from night life to day life i think its different,,i told him that and now he want to invest in a company to have the possibility to work with them and use his network and develop the company but i think its wrong and too early he might loose the money and i told him that but he think its the only solution to be able to work in september and because he was very successful in night life he think he will the same but too much confident sometime not good ,,,Me i think he should learn how to use his network , work with somebody for a little bit and then start invest ,,,so what do u think i should do?
