Greetings all as of Friday at 8:45 AM they got one engine hanging with steering completed, and they are working on installing steering components on the other two prior to hanging them on the boat. If they are ready by tomorrow they will try to splash by noon. Little C will not be ready today since the other mechanic they have is away sick and they would have to take the one mechanic off midnite to work on LC engine. I will contact offshore during the day to keep you updated.

Thankyou
Carlos Rodriguez
