I think I m done here... soon. But will wait till at least my new O-1 is issued and apply for the green card.

Meanwhile - I would love to explore ALL the opportunities out there.

1,5 years - deadline is coming. the result i see here - I m having my documents fixed + little (really little) savings.

Josh sees how hard i m trying to get an internship (I can not even volunteer for Eva's hospital), to be productive and accomplish something - zero help, only criticism. He said that i should stop trying to get another job or internship besides modeling cause it is not realistic with my visa (unless I consider Moscow as an option) + he wondered who would want to hire me at all??!! Moreover, he thinks he gives me SO much money (half went on tutors + around 30% on my doctors, really looking forward to getting my tax return and for the second quarter payment)

I can not afford to waste more time.
