when i stop [REDACTED] after one sentence , it is because after years of this i am able to tell when she is just about to launch into a long speech. the fact that i stop her before she really begins , can be seen by you as being over sensitvie , however it is because i am experiences at this, It makes no sense to wait for for her to ramble on for 10 minutes . but i can understand how you see it, in the future , as opposed to making wrong conclusions it would be helpful , to just ask me why i did something , i usually have a reason, and if not I try to readily admit i made an error. I would appreciate it greatly , if you would try to focus on what i am saying as oppsoed to what discrepancy you would like to find with my statement , I said i enjoy and need novelty, so instead of trying to find novel things , thing s that we can do together , things that can be fun, much time is spent in an attempt to find instances where i didn't /don/t . or some instance that might conflict with my trying to share with you my thoughts I love you very much, I try to answer all your questions (i had hoped they had behind them a motivation to help us move forward , and even a better time)
