<http://www.iie.com/publications/pb/pb09-11.pdf> The most truly disruptive technology would be a new financial system. Many if not most of the problems that you guys focus on could be alleviated if not solved by having enough of this thing called money. With the new technology, unlike gold . silver which in the past was seen to be a limited resource. the new money could be based solely on mathematics, in fact every single unit could have a number so that instead of giving you 1000 euros , I would give you specific euros , each with their own number. The essence of money is trust , and that you seem to have. wild but true, anyway more next time, thanks again
