

To: jeeproject@yahoo.com[jeeproject@yahoo.com]
From: Houzz Updates
Sent: Sun 3/10/2013 4:50:34 PM
Subject: This week on Houzz

View in iOS app

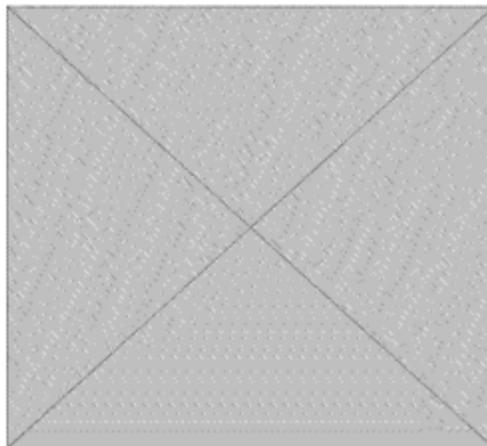

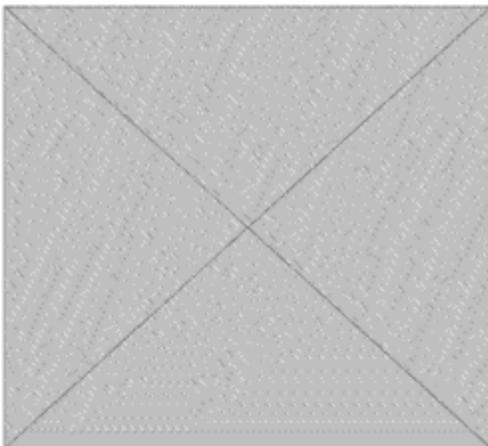

This week on Houzz

Before and after: Show off your bathroom renovation project by sharing a photo with the Houzz community. Plus: latest ideas for your bathroom with our remodeling guides.

11 Things to Expect With Your Remodel »

If you've never remodeled before or are taking on a big project, you may feel a little nervous. How much will it cost? How long will it take? Between the large expense and the excitement of anticipating your finished remodel, it's hard... more »

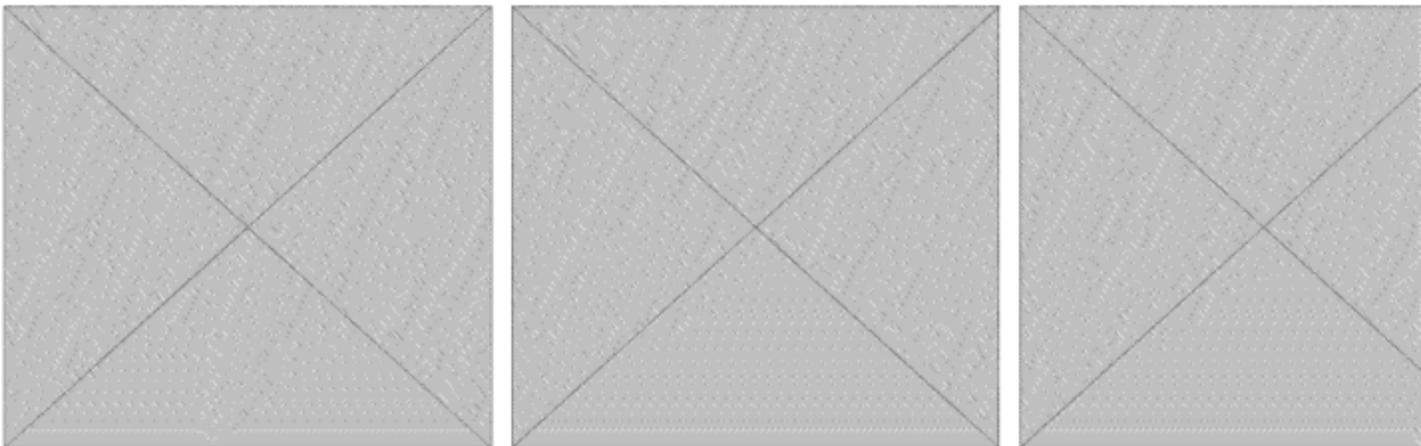

My Houzz: Cliff May Homeowners Lead the Way in Long Beach

Doug and Rochelle Kramer were ready to design their own dream midcentury house. Realtors who specialize in selling and reviving Cliff May homes in Southern California, they knew exactly what they wanted. But what they got was a bank... more »

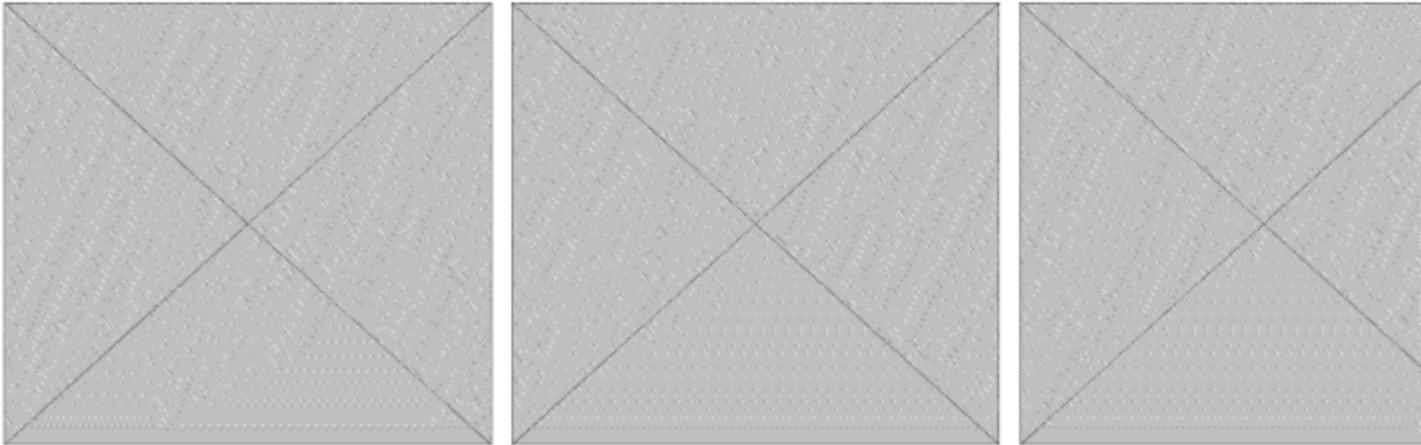

Kitchen of the Week: From Style Mishmash to Streamlined Farmhouse »

Having survived several remodels over 100-plus years, this farmhouse had little of the original kitchen left. The new owner tore through the mishmash of styles and gave the kitchen a fresh start. Architect Robert Ross used vibrant colors and modern materials to create a more »

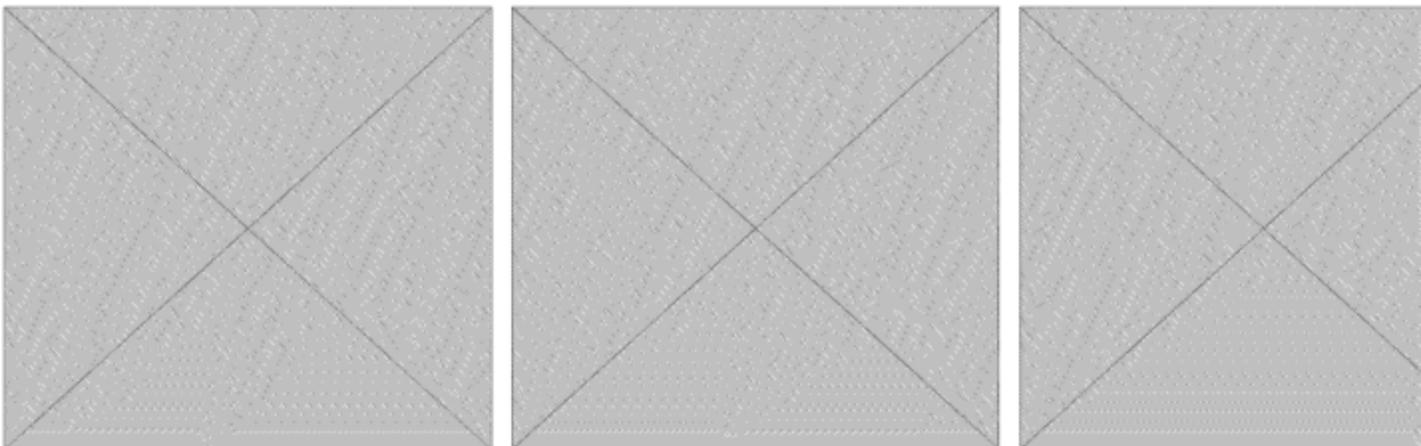

Houzz Tour: Modern and Traditional Tango in a Spanish-Style Ranch »

Shaw Coates and her husband, John, loved living in their four-level downtown San Diego house. Shaw, in particular, loves small spaces, having lived in Paris apartments. But when the couple — she's a marketing director; he's a hardware engineer... more »

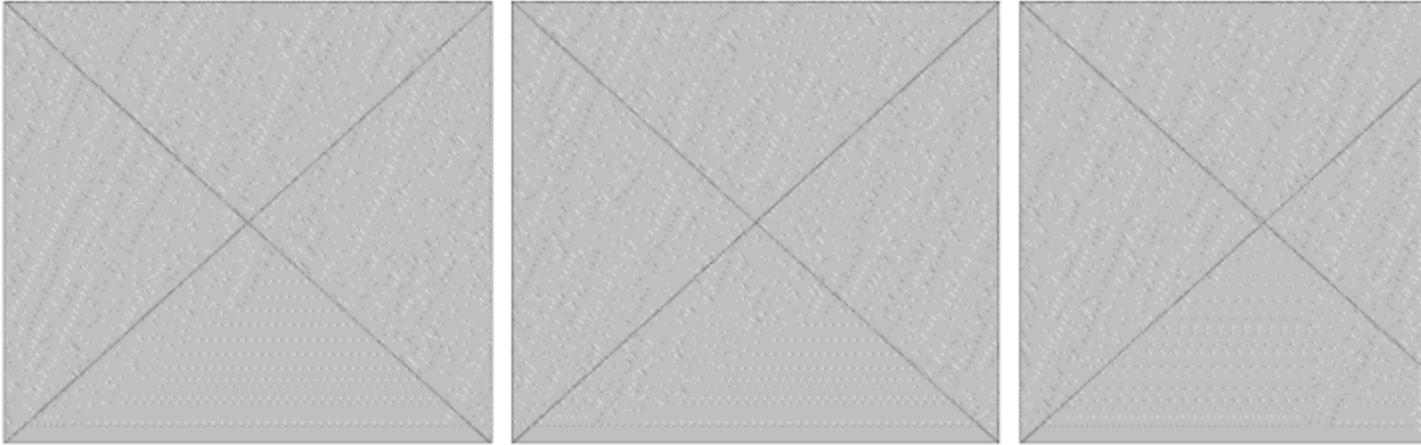

21st-Century Looks for Shabby Chic Fans »

It began when I sank into the world's most comfortable white slipcovered sofa in the Shabby Chic store in New York in 1999. I got hooked on Shabby Chic. I watched the TV show, I slept on the supersoft sheets and I emulated everything... more »

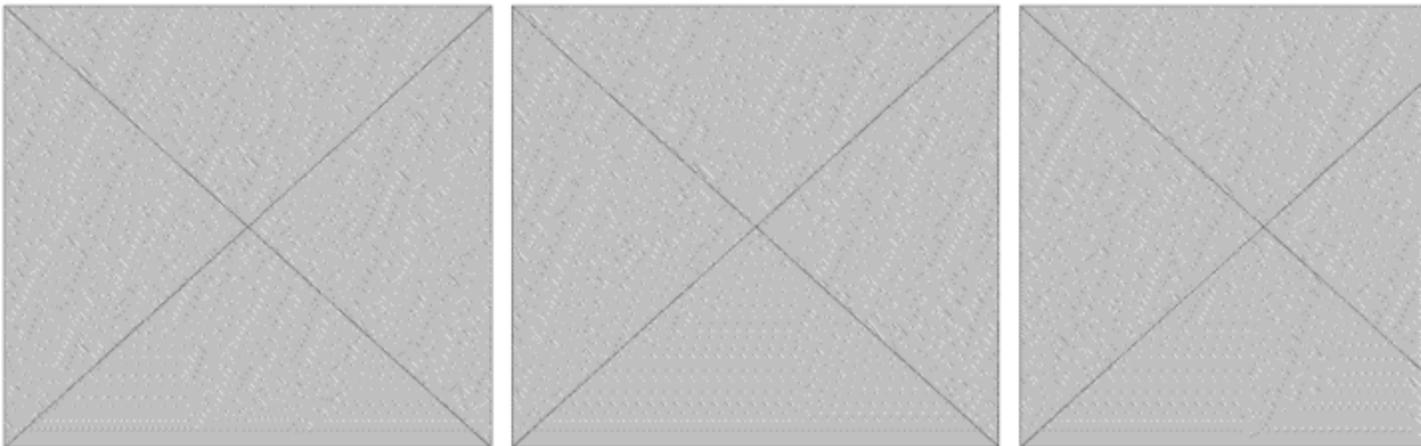

Houzz Tour: Steel Fuses Industrial and Modern in a California Pavilion »

Earl Anderson is a steel manufacturer in the business of making equipment for harvesting almonds. He loves the material so much that he decided to use an abundance of it for his new two-story entertaining pavilion and garage... more »

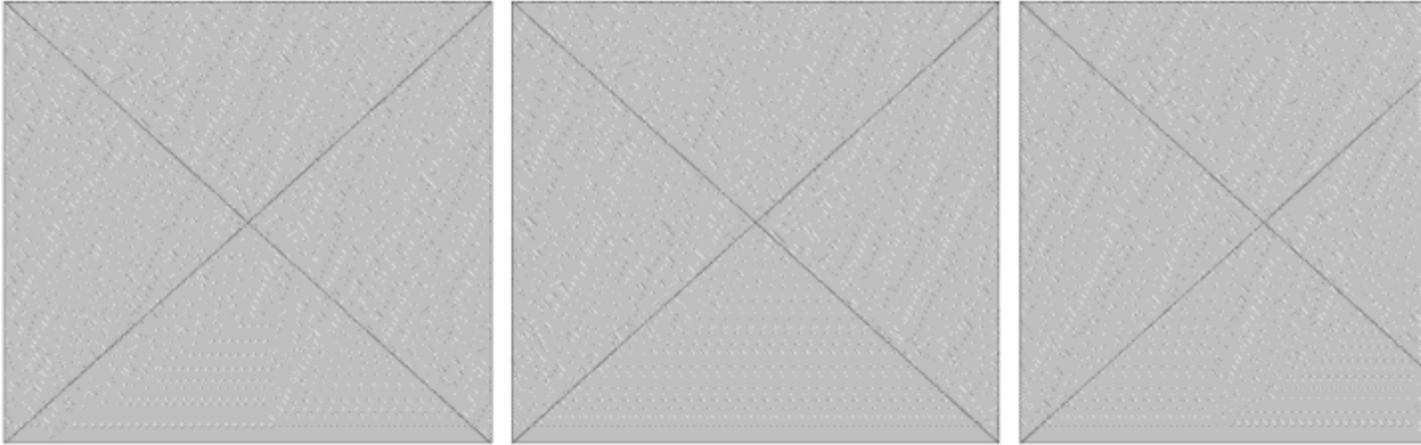

See the Amazing Orchids Unfolding at a New York Garden Show

There's a moment in the 2002 Charlie Kaufman film Adaptation, which is based on Susan Orlean's book The Orchid when the toothless orchid hunter wades through chest-high swamp water in search of a rare varietal called the Ghost Orchid... more »

My Houzz: Pittsburgh Loft Living Gets a Hit of Artful Eclectic Style »

Pittsburgh native Stacy Weiss, owner of furniture retailer Weisshouse, had just sold her renovated house when she came across a converted loft space in the ultrahip neighborhood of Shadyside. "I was looking for a rental while trying to find... more »

Double Take: Is This an Ice Block in an Australian Backyard? »

It's not often one comes across a square of suspended water in the Australian bush, or anywhere for that matter. The geometric, seemingly gravity-defying spa slowed down my usual lightning-fast Houzz browsing mouse finger and made me... more »

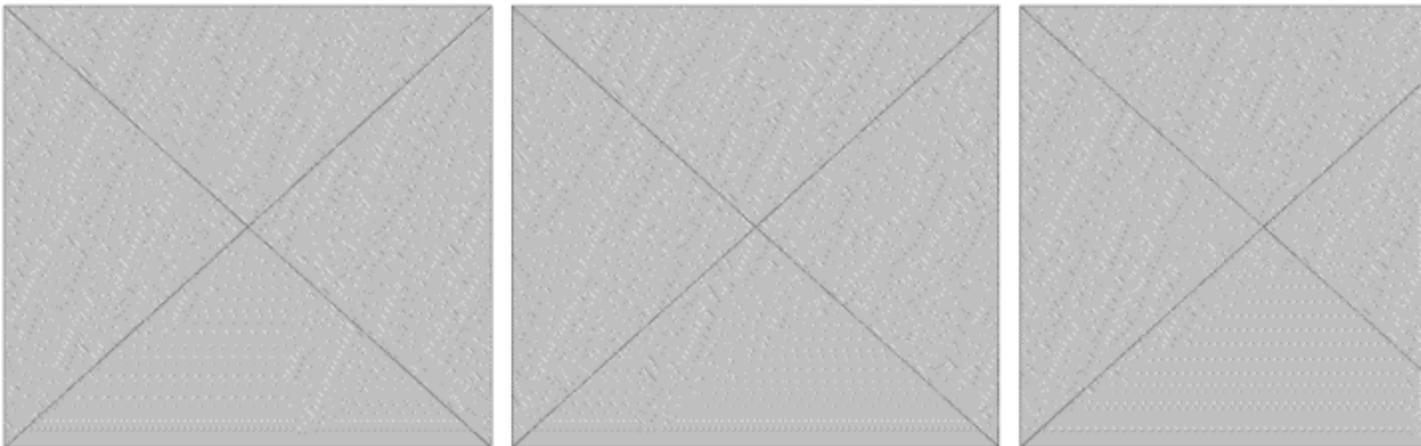

Houzz Tour: Say Aloha to Tropical Beachside Splendor »

Kukio is an exclusive high-end development situated on the breathtaking lava-rock-strewn Kohala coast in Hawaii. Billionaires Charles Schwab, George Roberts and Michael Dell are just a few people said to be residents of the neighborhood. When... more »

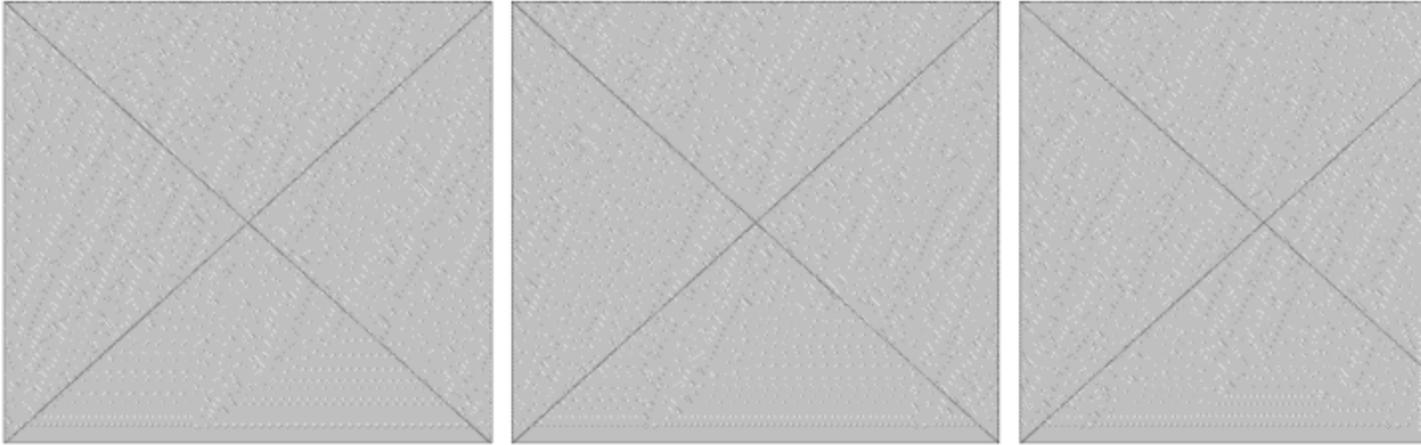

Makeover Magic: Period Style for an All-New 1920s Bathroom »

The original materials in Houzz user jons112's guest bathroom certainly weren't his style, but the wood subfloor under the outdated tile posed a much greater problem: years of water damage from damaged cast iron plumbing. He hired a contractor... more »

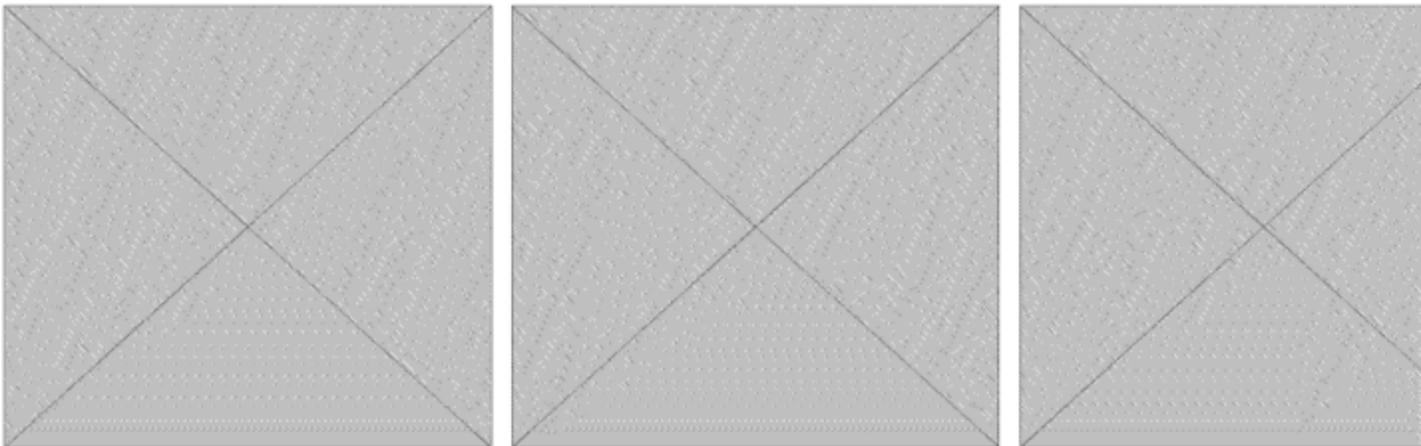

My Houzz: Red and Black Pop in a German Penthouse »

As they say: It pays to wait. For interior stylist Angelo De Bock, his patient, yearlong search led him to an enviable penthouse in Cologne, Germany, blessed with a rooftop terrace and a view of the famous Cologne Cathedral. Located in the Belgian... more »

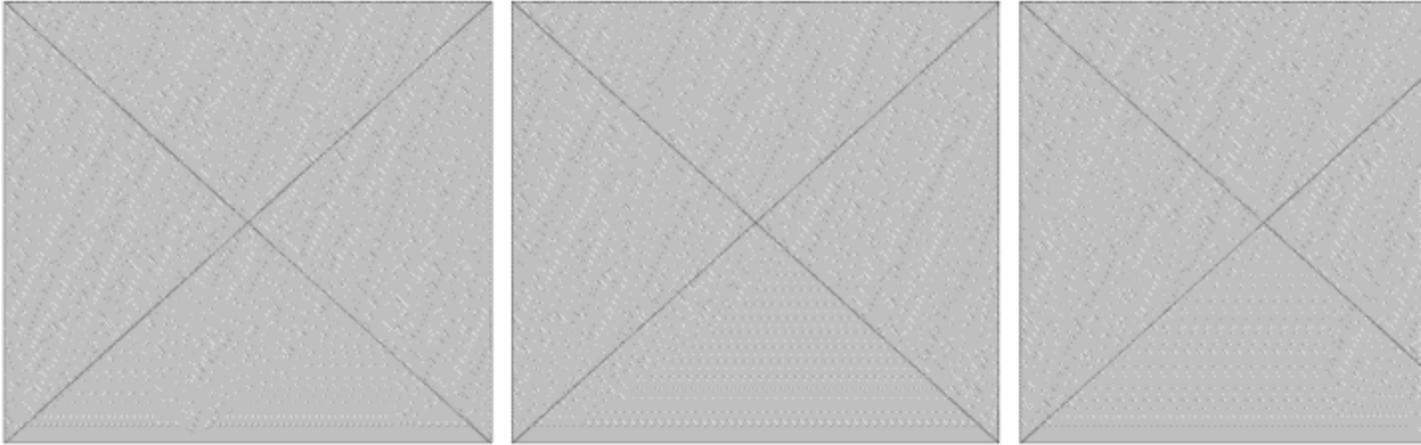

Guest Picks: Herb Gardens for Small Kitchens and Gardens »

I'm not much of a gardener, and granted, I don't have much space in my tiny backyard to garden anyway. But I do enjoy having fresh herbs at my beck and call. Thankfully, there are clever ways to easily accommodate a fresh herb garden near... more »

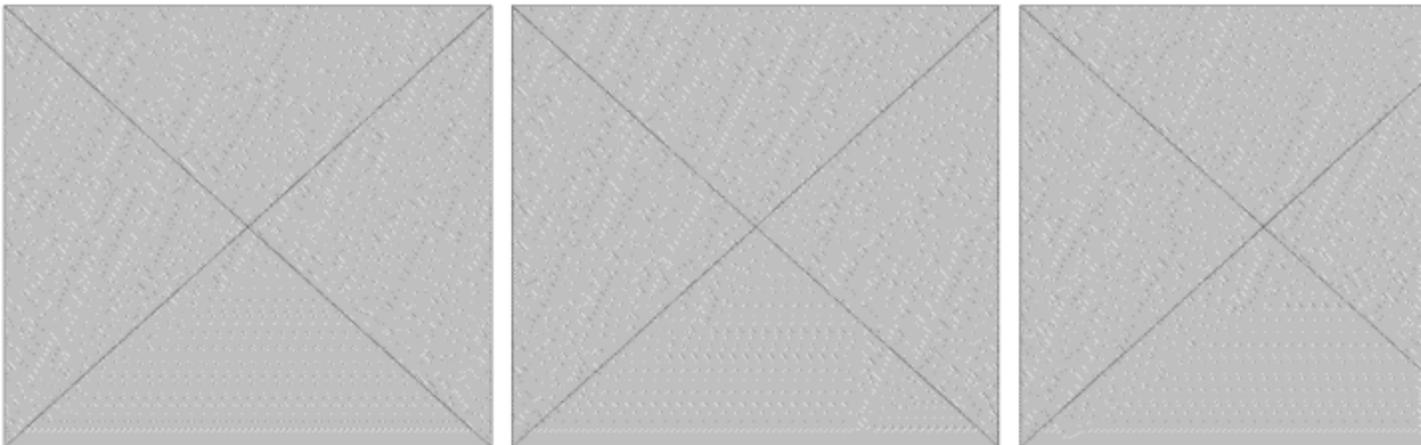

Houzz Tour: Airplane Efficiency for a Minimalist Hong Kong Flat

Hong Kong architect Clifton Leung didn't have much space to work with when designing this 1,000-square-foot flat for his architect wife, Lisa. But taking cues from airplane galley kitchens and a minimalist mentality, they made their tight...

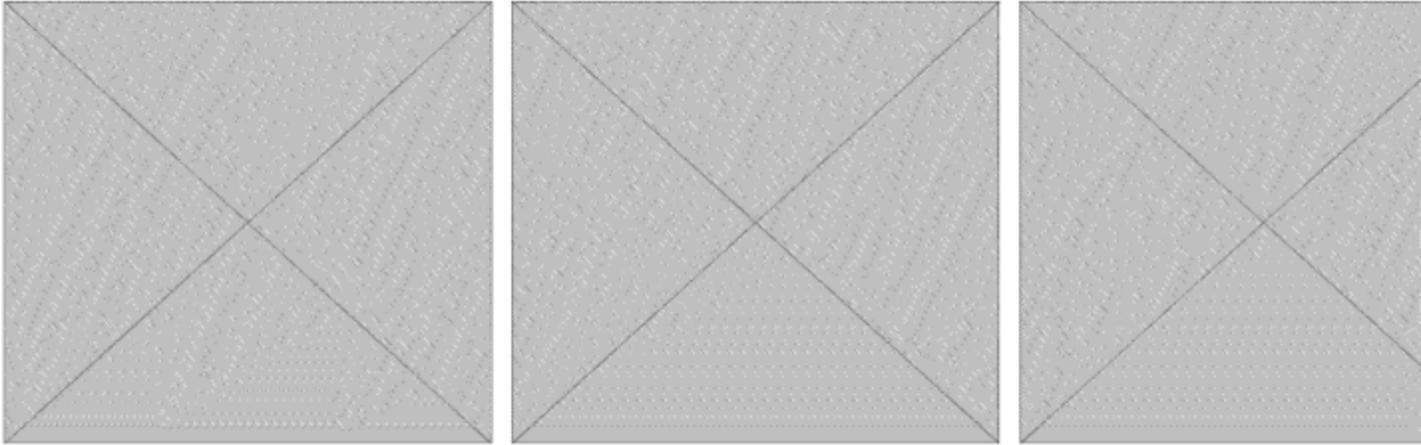

Shop Talk: Peek in on Brandon Morrison's Lamp-Making Process »

Lighting designer and Louisiana native Brandon Morrison favors quality craftsmanship and bringing the manufacturing process back to the basics. The founder of lighting and furniture company whyrHymer, Morrison designs the ceramic lampshades... more »

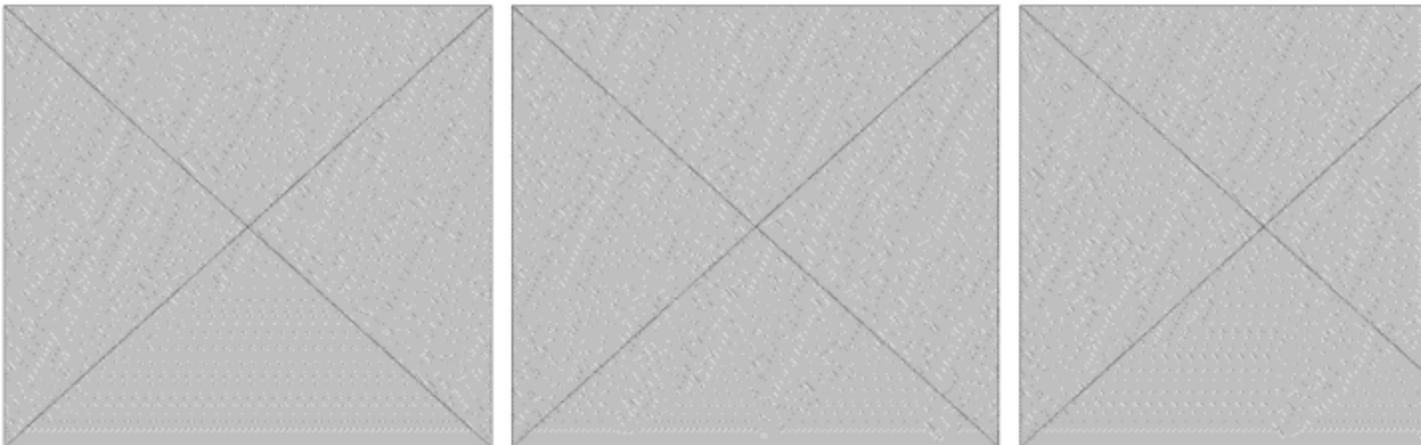

Time Travel to Houzzers' Childhood Homes, Part 3 »

Many of these Houzzers' childhood homes were built by grandfathers and fathers, and some are still in the family, but lovingly renovated by the next generation. Some of these home builders learned construction as they went and enlisted help... more »

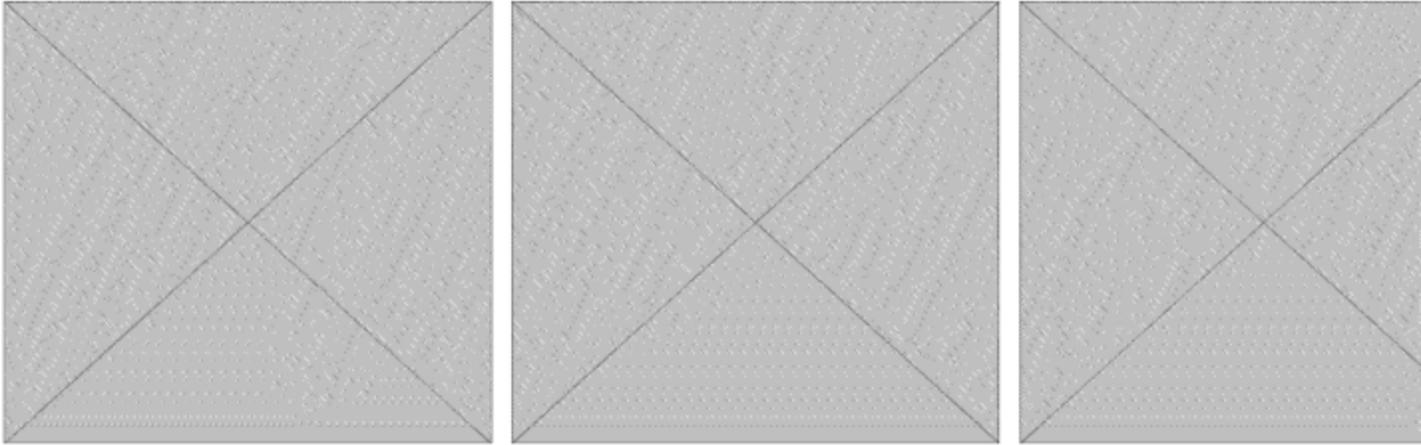

Houzz Tour: Rugged Irish Landscape, Serene Modern Weekender »

Besides Iceland, Ballyconneely peninsula in Ireland's Connemara, County Galway, is one of the westernmost parts Europe. Mountains, coves and rocky inlets define the rugged area as much as the Atlantic stretching to the west. El Seamus,... more »

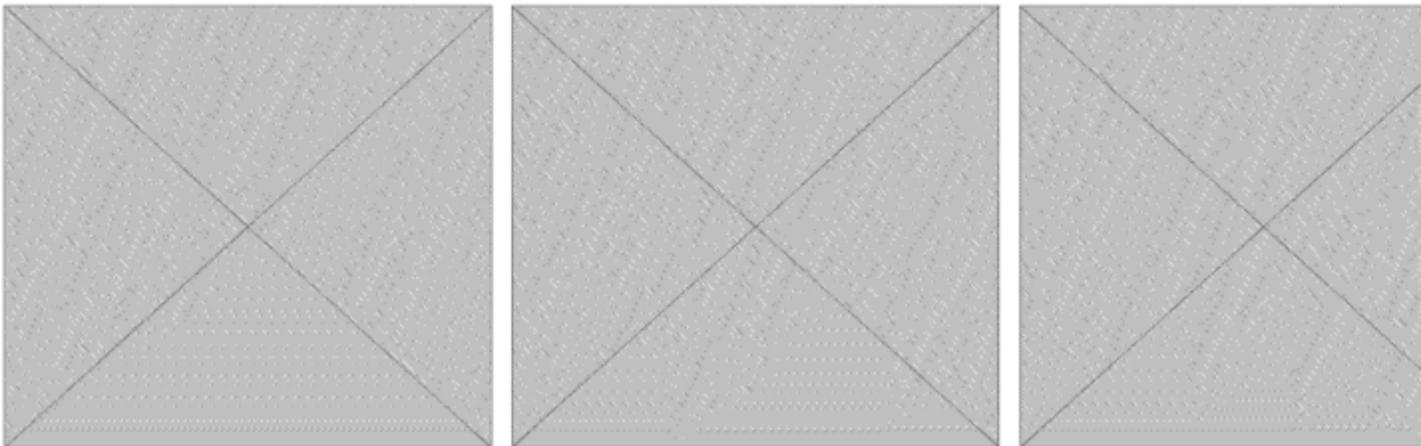

On Trend: You'll Flip for These Double-Duty Furniture Designs

Many homeowners today are working hard to reduce the amount of space they need. For some it's through better organization; for others it's a smaller house — but plenty of people just want to live more simply. Are you looking for to save... more »

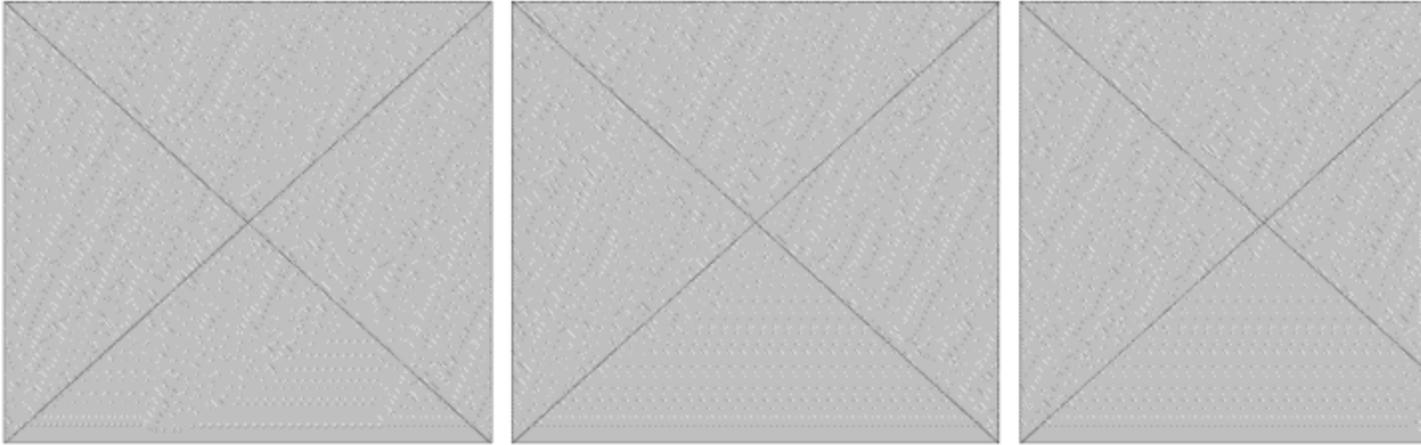

My Houzz: Vintage Cool Style for a Montreal Apartment »

Crisp white walls and exposed brick serve as the perfect canvas on which these creative first-time homeowners blend a strong, eclectic sense of style. Johan Högdahl, an art director in advertising, is originally from Sweden, and his style is more »

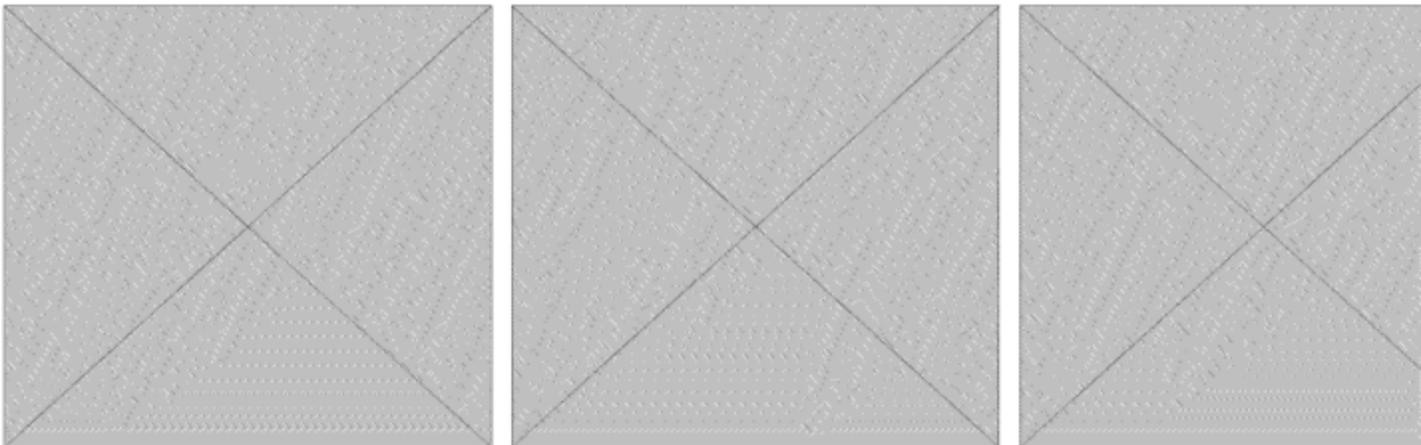

How Low Can Hedges Go? Discover Unusual Garden Borders

People may have different ideas about what makes a hedge, but I see it as a linear planting kept regularly trimmed, compact and impenetrable, or consisting of naturally compact shrubs that require little or no clipping to maintain a continuous... more »

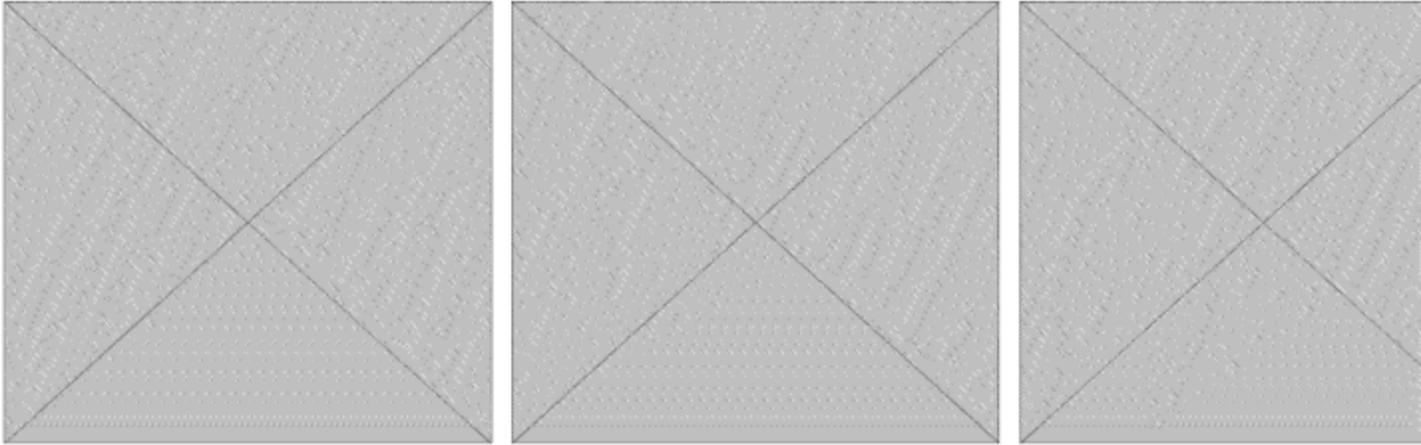

Houzz Tour: Resourcefulness Shows in a Rugged Montana Cabin »

"We are living in the land of resourcefulness out here," says builder Dave Radatti of Northern Montana's Mindful Design. Northern Montanans are resourceful when it comes to reclaiming, reusing, building their own homes, staying warm even... more »

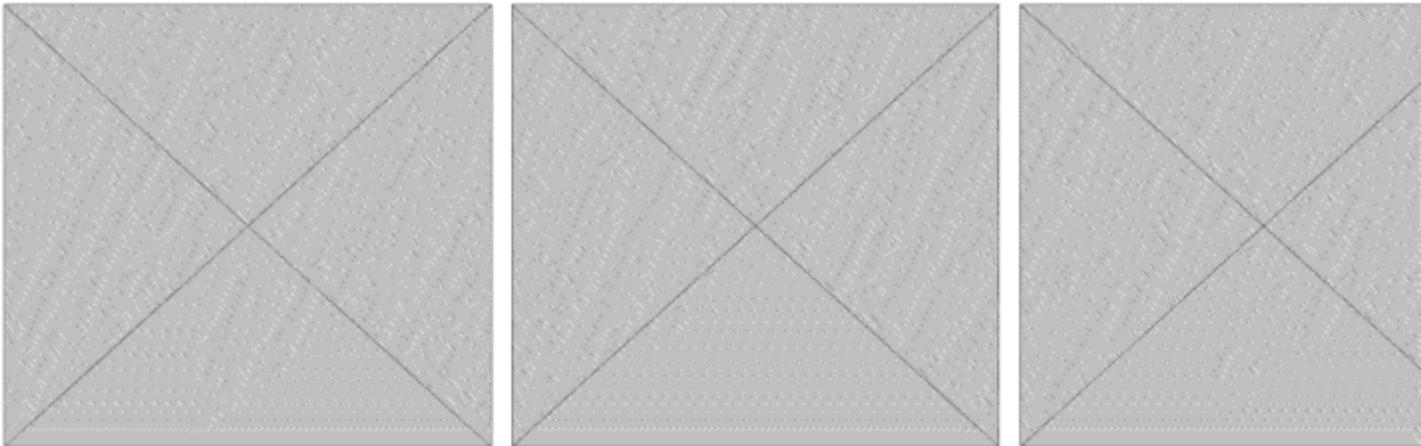

5 Benefits to Concrete Floors for Everyday Living »

When you initially think of concrete floors, you probably think "cold," "prison like" or "industrial." But with its ability to take on a wide range of colors and a polished sheen, coupled with its many benefits, concrete may become your new favorite on future... more »

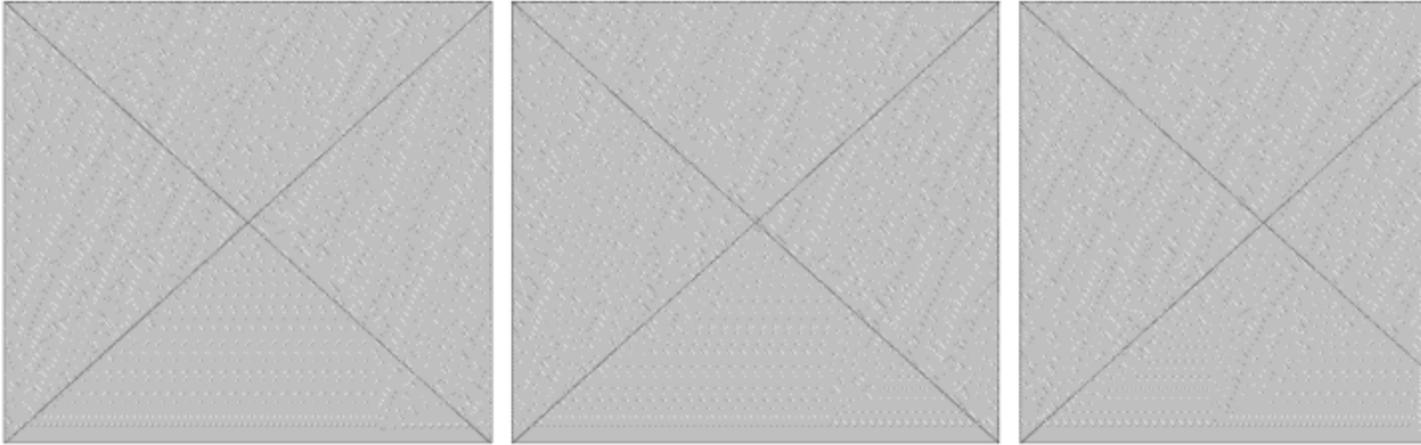

What's the Big Idea? In Architecture, It's the Parti Pris »

The term "parti pris," usually shortened to "parti," literally translates as "departure point," but in architect lingo it most often refers to the project design's big idea. It signifies an architect's overall guiding idea for a design. As... more »

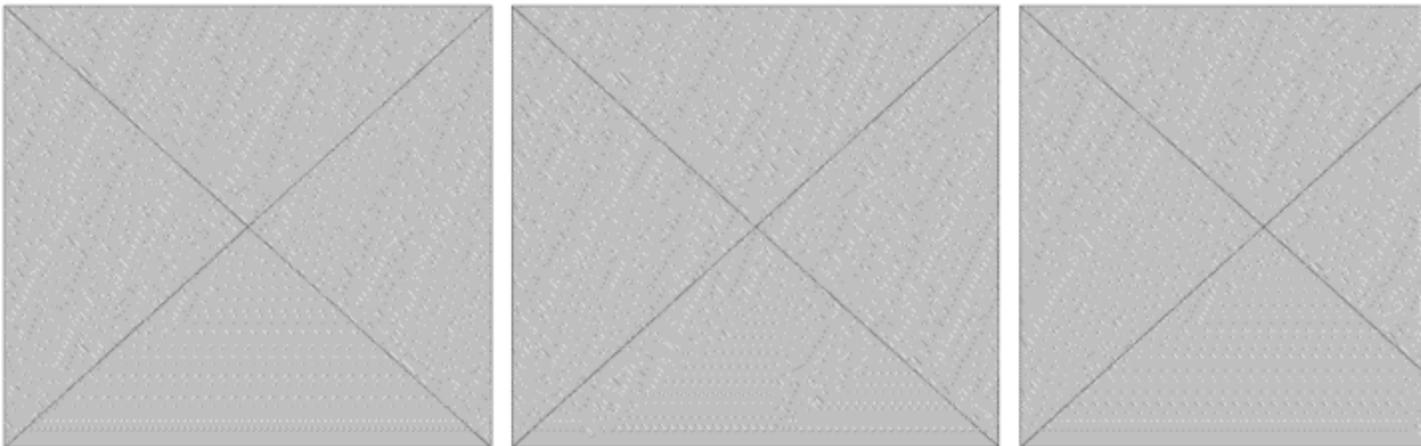

Guest Picks: Catch Spring Fever in the Kitchen and on the Table »

I realize that most of the nation is still battling snow flurries and wading through the streets in their Wellies, but I've got a little springtime on the noggin — and in feverish proportions! It's been so sunny around these parts that I've forgotten... r

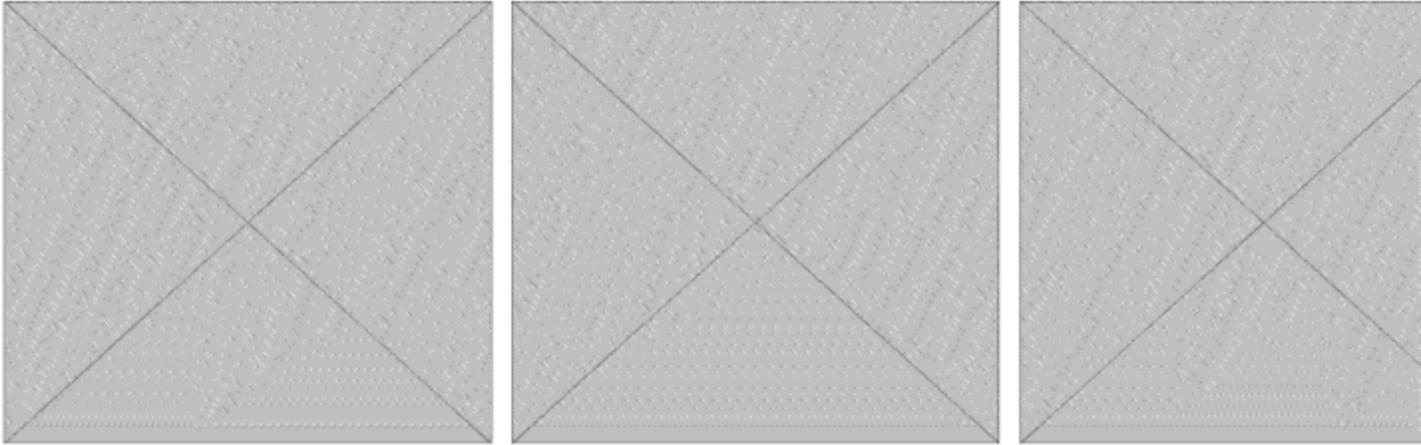

Morning Nook Tips for Sleepyheads to Get-Up-and-Goers »

Start your morning on the right note by crafting a space that lifts your spirits and fills you with vitality for the day ahead. Whether you want to be energized to get moving, or you crave a gentler awakening, the first step is to set up a space that works for you. Learn more »

8 Ways to Treasure the Diamond Pattern at Home »

The diamond pattern is a standout and classic geometric design. Used for centuries as a motif on things like clothing and even knitted garments, this pattern is still just as popular now as it was hundreds of years ago. Whether you have a modern or traditional home, this pattern can be a great addition. Learn more »

Guest Picks: Give Your Home a Helping of Spring Greens »

At just about this time every year, I begin longing for spring days, warmer weather and sprouting greens. I'm always to get in the garden and start spending more time outside. Helping me get ready is this collection of housewares and garden... more »

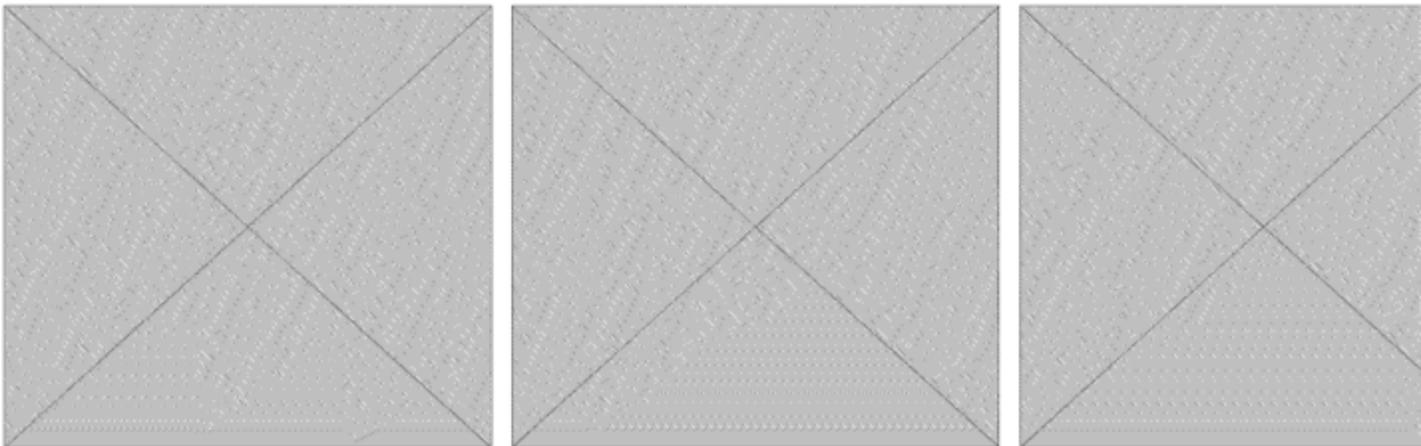

9 Dreamy, Feminine Bedrooms Full of Softness »

First things first: The notion of masculine and feminine in decorating has less to do with gender roles than with form placement, color and other pieces of the visual package. Feminine rooms tend to convey a sense of softness and n they're... more »

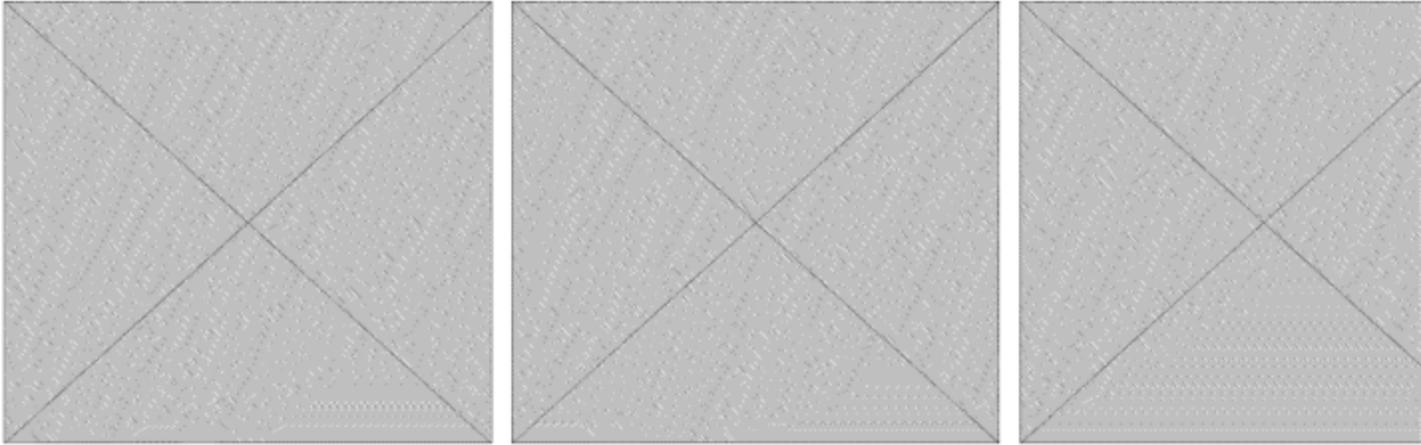

13 Versatile Furniture Pieces That Grow With You »

Whether you have just signed the lease on your first apartment, or you are working on replacing your college apartment furniture with higher-quality stuff, it helps to have a long-term strategy for furnishing your place. You may not always more »

Guest Picks: Drum Up Bohemian Chic Style »

I'm in California this week, which seems like the perfect time to think about bohemian-chic decor. Infused with a little a little Spanish colonial, Moroccan, French and lots of colorful fabrics, like suzanis and paisley prints, boho-chic... m

Latest Discussions on Houzz »

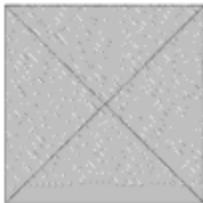

HELP!!! Living room challenge/design!!! - Bought this sofa recently, it doesn't look right to me, but have to keep,... more »

by 12aidyna · 35 comments

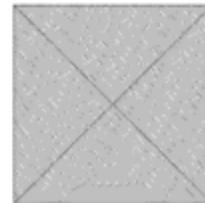

Huge empty wall - Any id to our wall next to our bed moved on a custom built

by lmac_1 · 40 comments

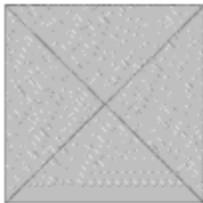

My Dream Mudroom - We took space from the old garage and made a mudroom customized to the exact needs of our family of... more »

by lucky708 · 21 comments

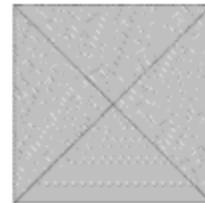

Bedroom - 1 large area n We have a rather long be one end, we have a seati

by abigailca · 29 comments

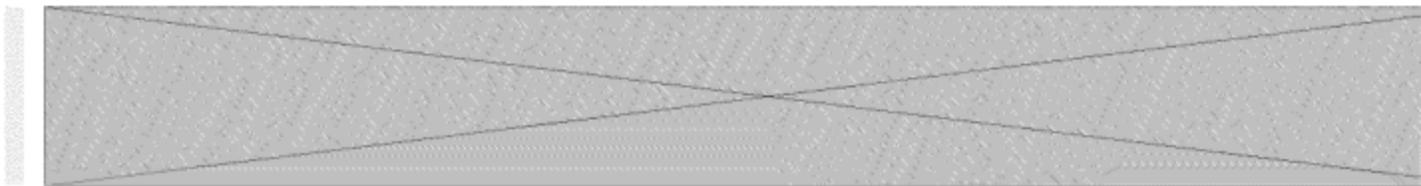

Need help picking a rug - I just redid my floor and fireplace. Now I need a rug! Any ideas? The color scheme now is... more »

by lindangu1020 · 8 comments

Changing paint colors on outside corners in an open you stop or start paint col

by Denice Shuty · 30 comment

Follow  © 2013

Houzz

Houzz
Inc.

on:

Don't want to receive
Houzz updates?
Unsubscribe.
View our privacy policy. .