Our big project tomorrow is to get the gravel down for the mechanical area. We have been focusing a great deal of effort in the masonry work (which takes more time than I would have ever thought) and projects that were in your areas. While you are here I would like to get back into painting the tunnel, along with the cleaning and organization. Shouldn't be a problem keeping the guys busy without being intrusive. I have them scheduled to work on Saturday, but if you would prefer not I can cancel.
