school was explicitly designed to keep people busy of course and not only dictators but all governments understand that still, many smart people do nothing with their lives because of how bored they were with school, or worse live much stupider lives because they focussed on all the wrong things between shvartzers and smart jews there are the other 85% of the population they vote, the shoot each other, they are depressed all because they never learned to think clearly while the govt was ramming their heads with crap about the taft hartley act

If it was being done by other races. Keeping you busy, seems to be a goal that few people except dictators fully understand. There are too many people and when you make them smarter they will realize it.
