Because they are removing 2 existing units
One in kitchen and the downstairs
And installing one new unit and existing kitchen unit in downstairs kitchen
It will take a full day to do work
Would you like photos to confirm work

The first unit that was installed had only 1/2 a day of labor (704 cost)
Can please explain why they require a full day (1408 cost) for what appears to be the same job
Could it possibly be an oversight by the vendor?
Please advise.

As Discussed attached estimate to remove the 2nd existing Sanyo unit from the kitchen and replace with a matching Fujitsu unit
The Sanyo unit will be used to replace non functioning unit in maids/backup fridge area below main kitchen Estimate includes, unit, material and labor
Total cost: $4,025

Can we proceed
