My decision to pursue general dentistry residency program actually began as far back as kindergarten. It is the next step in following my dream as a child. While others played doctor.(/ I to the dismay of my male friends only wanted to play dentist. In Minsk, Belarus, the city and country of my youth, I began dental school as soon as i could. I later had the good fortune to be accepted and attend columbia dental. At Columbia University I am slated to graduate in May of 2015 . As you might imagine , with the ability to live my childhood dream , I made an effort to come as close as I could as soon as I could. therefore , in the interim I have also worked as a dental assistant for general dentist, prosthodontics and a periodontist , which provided me the opportunity to see how wonderful even the reality of the dental profession could be. I am thrilled to be allowed to continue my learningk and am very confident that restorative dentistry in all it's aspects is is my future, . Right now I am nearing the end of my formal education and beginning practical life. I hope to to join a residency program that that would give me an opportunity to learn the advance techniques of modern day treatments, to manage medically compromised patients and be able to coordinate with the medical profession. I hope one day to become a U S citizen and give back to the country that has provided me such a great life.
