The Science of Love & Online Dating
Tuesday, April 29th, 6:30 – 8:30 PM
The Gallery

Whether you're married, single, or have a "friend" that wants to try online dating, we have all wondered how and if it really works.

Amy Webb & Dr. Steve Carter will give guests an insider's analysis on the often daunting and vast landscape of online dating, from a scientific perspective. Webb is a digital strategist and the author of her popular memoir, "Data, A Love Story," and Dr. Carter is the Vice President of Matching at eHarmony.

Both Webb and Carter have differing perspectives on the subject, so be sure to join us for a spirited conversation on the science of love and Internet hook ups – presented by NH and The Science and Entertainment Exchange.
