Subject: Thank you for enrolling in Introduction to Website Development from Socratic Arts

Dear Jeffrey,

Thank you for enrolling in Introduction to Website Development from Socratic Arts. We're sure you will find this an exciting and rewarding learning experience. You can launch your course at gbstool.learningbydoingtools.com.

Why this course is different

In this course you will not be listening to lectures or taking exams. Instead you will be "learning by doing" in an environment that simulates the challenges and situations you would encounter in the real world. Think of it as an extended role play in which the role you are playing is a typical example of the very kind of work you will actually be doing when you are able to apply what you learn in this course to your professional career.
