hi jeffrey,

..anna told me that you said not to take break because we have only two more weeks and we are not going to finish the painting..

i think things go well and we will be done by then. i did already the marble on top of the bookshelves and i started the marble on the left side of the door. we should be done with all marble and the writing around the door by the end of next week, saturday. then the following week we'll have only the inside square area.. that shouldn't take more then 3 days. so everything should be done by the mid of following week. the flagpole kitchen is done. at the chillax room they did more holes but michael fixed that too.

after six days of work i feel very tired. this week was a long week.. we worked last sunday. today we worked untill lunch time, we were tired (i fell from the bucket..). michael was tired too, burnishing is a hard process. i think we need a day off

thank you
