Thank you very much!!! Im very grateful for advices, support and everything :) Going to island would be great :)

My aunt also advised me to check up postgraduate health and resilience academy program at [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]). It takes two semesters only.

But meantime Im going to check also schools in ny :)

Thank you for everything! :D

This profession in Poland is regulated by law. I had no clue about that earlier. There is no nurse technician schools here (use to be though). Nursing is not so popular here anymore because of regular strikes of nurses due to overworking and low salary. My mother work as a clerk in education field and asked me to check The Act on professions of nurse and midwife. I found particular chapters describing education system and standards for nurses (f.ex. chapter 52,

Hi,

Yesterday and today I've been searching possible universities I could study nursing.

There is only three schools in Warsaw which have nursing programs. That's

[REDACTED] (nursing; public health [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] and postgraduate humanitarian action

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED] University (nursing and public health [REDACTED] nl) and

[REDACTED]. All of those starts in September and take 3 years of BA and after 2 years of MA or 5 years at once. At Medical University they have also postgraduate programs, which are shorter

Nursing its not very popular in Poland anymore, so there is not very much choice. I have found postgraduate public health at collegium varsoviense

[REDACTED] and at WP

[REDACTED]. But they don't say anything about recruitment this semester.

I've been searching also related programs which combine health care with what i have achieved at POU.

[REDACTED] - health organization management [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED] - management of health condition in older people

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED] postgraduate studies from disabled care [REDACTED]

There is also very interesting programs at [REDACTED], which is one of best in Poland and high in rankings worldwide. They have health protection management or innovations in health care

[REDACTED]
There is also 2 years program of MBA of medical personel

It came to my mind that I could try even wider, which means not only nursing but even sth like humanitarian action or social aid or sth related. What do you think?
Thank you for everything :)

Best wishes
