This JUST updated - great timing [REDACTED] I'm seeing the same. I ran a scan at 7AM and the results were not the same as they are now.
I'd like to watch it for 24 hours and see things settle. Also want to see what happens when the press release is no longer active. We may need to keep steady releases going out for a few weeks to keep the page in current form while we strengthen the position.

Either way - this is good news and means we are on track still.

Best,

Tyler

Hi Jeffrey & Tyler,

The first day where I see no negatives on the 1st page. Tyler do you see the same?

The Science site finally surpassed the Forbes.

5 of our websites are on the 1st page.

This might change tomorrow-- but the Forbes was at the bottom of the page for the last 3 days.

There are 3 negatives on the 2nd page: Forbes, NY Post and Daily Beast.

Our goal should be to push those further down-- so that the 1st page is not vulnerable.
