Thanks for update.

What content are we posting to their site? Will we be able to reference our Google + page(s) as an author?

I'm working with some of the following sites to secure a premium placement for the article you are finishing up elaborating the last press release. It's going to take a week for placement on one of these I believe - I'm discussing getting you added as a [REDACTED] on a few also.

<http://online.wsj.com>
Wired.com
USnews.com
newyorker.com
arstechnica.com

We are setting up supporting links on this and edge/.edu once live. I expect we see the edge and edu on first page pretty quickly once it is indexed by Google.

Best,

Tyler

Hi Tyler,

We'll be listed on the popular tech site below. Am redoing Jeffrey's Edge profile tonight and will send you the updated link.

Will send you more content shortly.

Jeffrey: can I ask Martin Nowak to do a page for the foundation? That edu URL would be very helpful.

Thanks,

Hi [REDACTED]!

Thank you for the information. Your website is scheduled to be featured on February 3-4, 2014 at exactly 8:00 AM MST. Please take note that you will be featured on insidetechnow.com's front page ("Featured Sites" section) for 2 days and will be permanently listed on the All Sites list.

Sorry I can't schedule you on an earlier date because we also have some other websites already on schedule. Hope that's okay with you.

Please do remember to take note of the date above.

Here's the link to your website profile once the post is active on said the date:

Thank you for helping both our websites achieve higher rankings, and for becoming part of the insidetechnow.com family!

Sincerely,

Christine Rose
