Subject: Front Door Electronic Locks Frozen

Mr. Epstein the front door electronic locks are not working properly due to the extreme cold temperatures and high winds . The extreme difference of temperature on the outside of the door to the warm inside warps the door and freezes the locks, also due to the outside air booster fan having to be shut down because of brutal outside air temperatures the house is in a negative pressure. To secure the house properly over night , I will need to install a dead bolt on the front door that can be locked from the inside when the weather gets this extreme. I will go over to Gracious Home to find a proper dead bolt that works for the door .
