Subject: press release attached
tumor growth.docx

Hi Tyler,

attached is the next press release on tumor growth.

I'm updating all of the sites today with the new content from the last 2 weeks.

2 negs on the 1st page: post and Forbes. Post has moved down one notch.

I'm concerned that the VI Foundation site has slipped to the bottom of the page. And I no longer see the .ORG site or the others on the 1st page. Is this because the press releases shifts Google's focus to news items vs. websites?

This is the first time that I don't see the websites on the 1st page. I'll call you to discuss now.

Thanks Tyler,
