

To: jeffrey epstein[jeevacation@gmail.com]; Tyler Shears[ ]
From: [ ]
Sent: Wed 12/4/2013 5:23:27 PM
Subject: website push

Hi Tyler,

thanks for talking w/ me just now. Thanks for embedding the forbes and the science site or the .org site in the article.

could we use the tumor growth for a feature article too somewhere?? for Huffington? Since the other positive Huffington is stable on the 1st page.

I agree that a major push of the well performing sites should be the focus over the next two weeks. I am updating them today with new content. They have naturally performed well under Google for the last year, they are updated regularly so they should get back to the 1st page fairly quickly.

I will also look at the directory list you gave me to see if I can do something there.

To recap, the sites that did well are:

--org
--VI Foundation
--usvi
--science

[ ]