The kitchen place is asking whether you would be interested in removing the wall between the kitchen and little laundry to make one room. They said that they could then make a little island in the middle of the kitchen. Not sure if this is necessary for flagpole as it is more just a functional kitchen?

Color

They had me match the orange sample to the exact paint color to send to the factory for a sample. They are now telling me that as the factory does not have this color they have to charge $500 to make a sample as they make the whole door. This seems extreme and I would like you to approve the color I have matched before we pay them, if at all.
