Sir,

██████ has booked me to fly down with the girls. Looking forward to coming down to assist unless you wish otherwise.

Please note i want your manuals to be what they should be and i know what they need to include. Some will end up containing multiple books. Besides the areas all should cover, there are no pre formed templates etc, to use to create the level of specificity for the extensive unique properties you have.

I want the the best for you and I am/will be creating them page by page in the areas required to insure they reflect and apply to each property. I would never give you inferior "manuals" as final ones just to say I have done them.

Therefore there is and will be a lot to do for each one but once done you will have a foundation for any estate manager or director to use and modify.

It will be the same with the budgets for each property to some degree, which if you allow and we can use will take some of the stress out of all parties involved in managing now.

Thank you for allowing me to assist sir.

Mark
