Hi Jeffrey

I hope that you are well. I want to check in with you on the following points. I'm hoping that we can speak today. I'm available at any time except from 3:15-4:15 EST.

1) Position review - July 24- Aug 31 performance was up approx 3.72%, main focus is long USD six months out vs commodity currencies and JPY.

- Position suffered today as August employment was worse than expected dampening prospects for Fed tapering in Sept. This does not change my six month outlook. I will let you know if it does.

- Good news is that if the AUD stays where it is and doesn't trade below .8760 (it is at .9190 now), we will realize a gain of approx $44k Monday at 10 00 am.

2) New Positions - JPM told me that I cannot initiate any new trades (except potentially hedging existing trades) and that I should speak with you about this. As you can imagine, this is a drag on my ability to trade and make money.

3) Registration - after great expense of time and money, I've found that I do not need to register with the SEC/State of Ct to trade FX or OTC FX options. You may remember that on the advice of my lawyers I had inserted a clause in the IMA that had me take no compensation until I was registered. We need to remove that language.

Please let me know which number I should call. I look forward to speaking.

Laurie
